

ReStore

This project aims to address how college students often struggle to find affordable, campus-related items like textbooks and furniture. We created a platform for KIET students, where seniors who are graduating can sell their products to junior students.

Project Overview

- Vision

- To create a platform for KIET students, where seniors who are graduating can sell their products to junior students.
- A PG connect module, where all college's nearby PG list will be present with all details.

- Target Audience

- Hostlers, PG residents, and new students moving into dorms or PGs.

Objectives

Offer a marketplace for second-hand goods tailored to student needs e.g. Coolers, books, etc, enabling convenient and cost-effective purchasing.

B

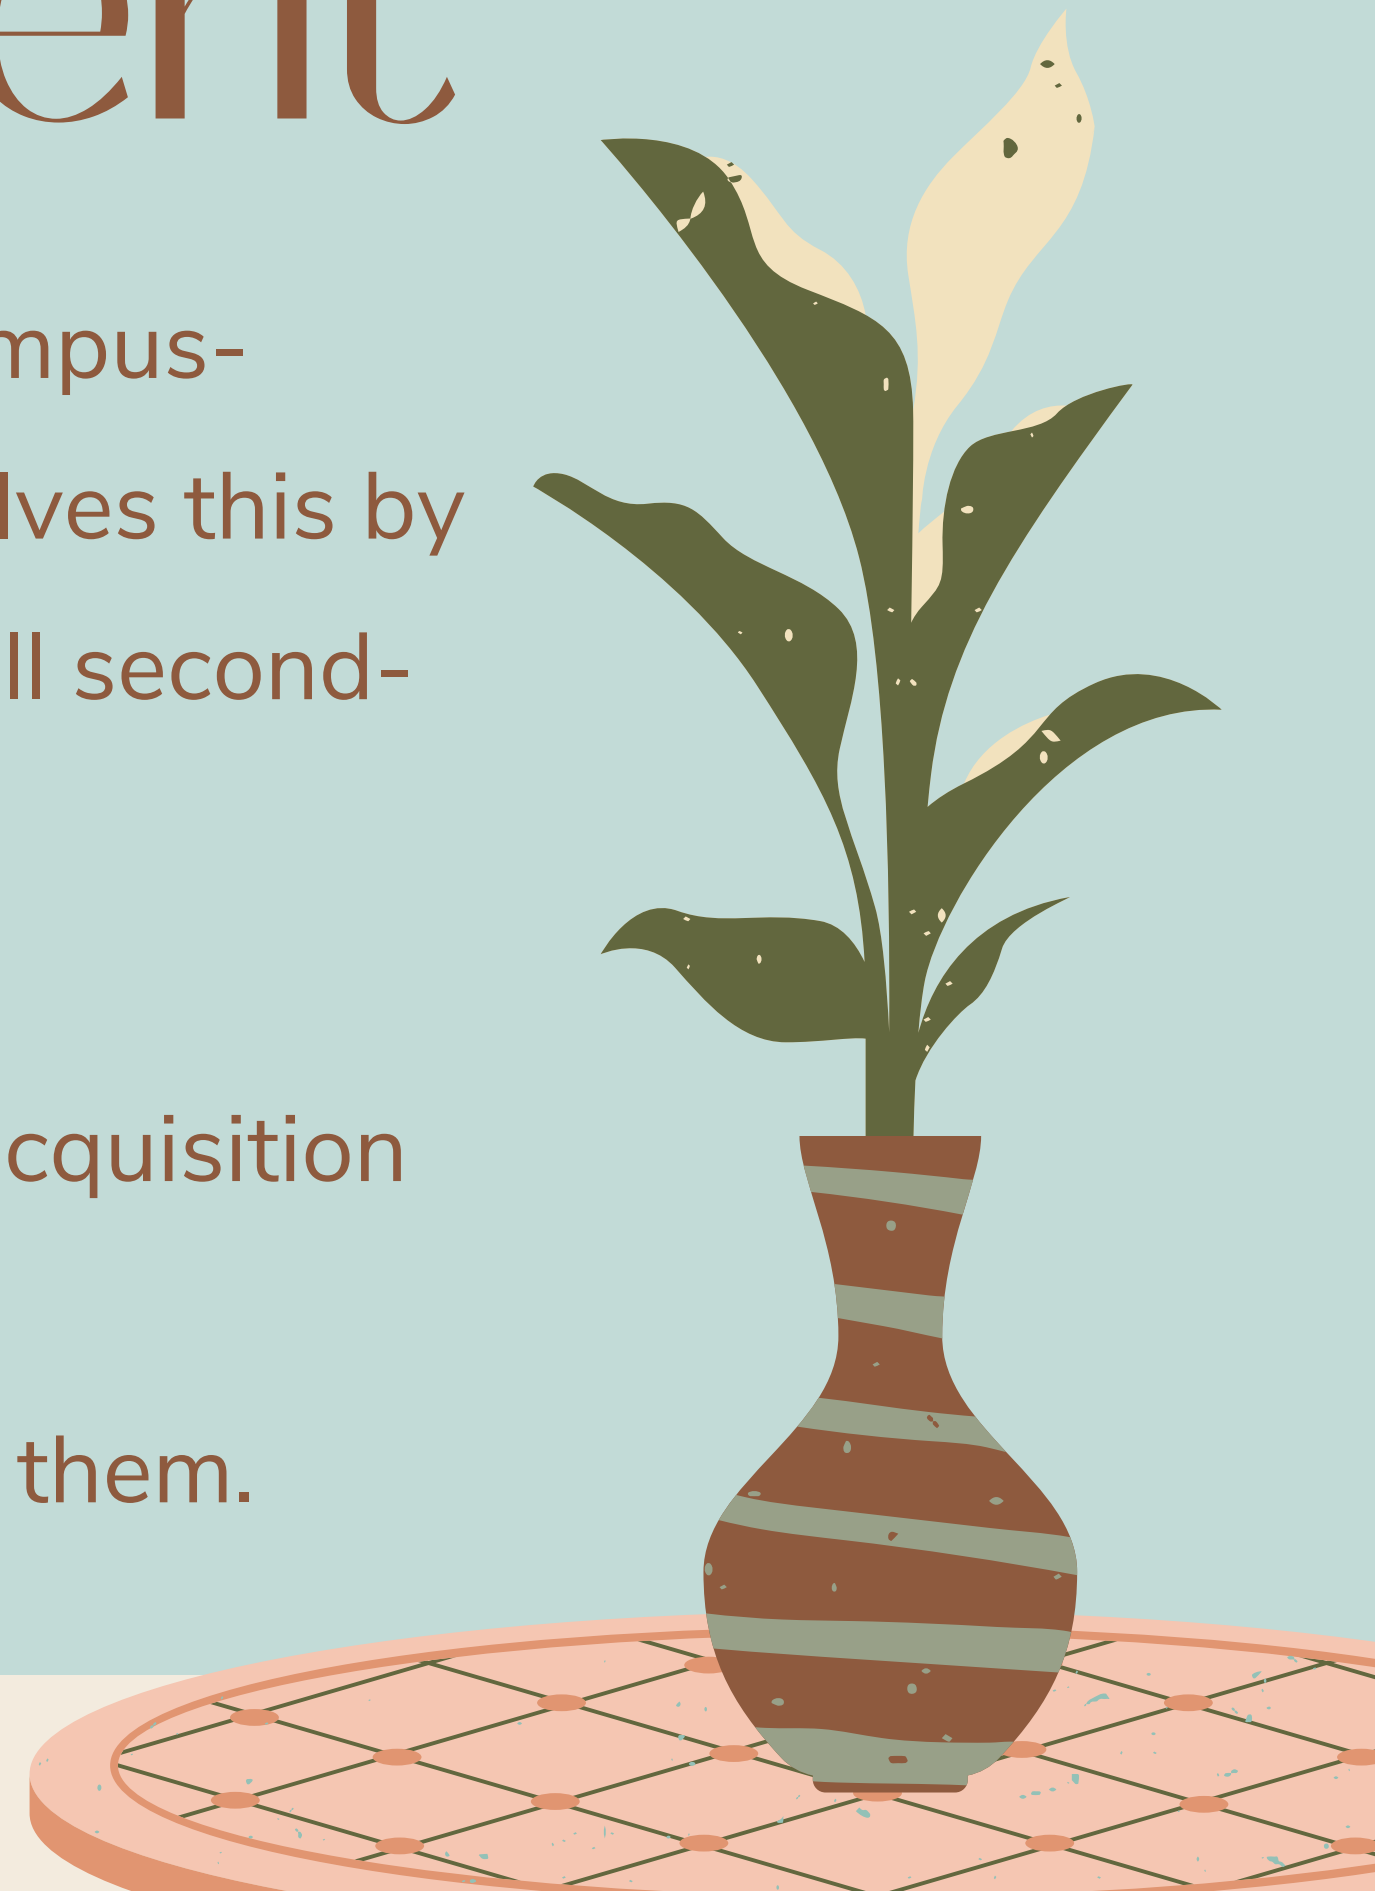

Provide a comprehensive platform for finding rooms, flats, PGs, and hostels near campus.

Provide bidding facility to buy and sell goods at reasonable prices

Problem statement

- College students often struggle to find affordable, campus-related items like textbooks and furniture. ReStore solves this by providing a platform for students to easily buy and sell second-hand goods within their college community.
- The existing options for student housing and goods acquisition lack a cohesive, student-centric approach, leading to inefficiencies, frustrations, and financial strain among them.

Key Project Deliverables

- Cost friendly alternates to buying new goods
- Bidding facility on desired goods
- Affordable housing
- Connected community engagement
- Sustainability
